Usage on backgrounds

The full-color logos should be used only on white, black or Midnight Green backgrounds.

Avoid using full-color logos on photographs unless the logo sits on a black or white area of the image.

One color usage

The one-color logo should be used only on photographs and color backgrounds within the brand color palette.

The one-color logo should be only on black and white colorways.

However, white colour logo will have conflicts with the colour. Hence, the full colour logo can be used in this state.

Construction, Clearspace & Computation

It is important to keep corporate marks clear of any other graphic elements. To regulate this, an exclusion zone has been established around the corporate mark.

This exclusion zone indicates the closest any other graphic element or message can be positioned in relation to the mark of the the symbol itself and our company name – they have a fixed relationship that should never be changed in any way.

Logo Responsiveness

Logo Responsiveness allows the primary logo to exists in several, slightly different and easily scalable variations.

Logo Misuse

- Do not crop the logo
- Do not change the transparency of the logo
- Do not change the colour position of the mark and name
- Do not use different colors
- Do not change the size or position of the mark and logotype

- Do not stretch the logo for any side
- Do not use drop shadow or any other effects
- Do not recreate using any other typeface
- Do not outline or use an outlined logo
- Do not rotate any part of the logo

Partnerships

For partnerships, we pair our logo with a partner logo having the exclusion zone in mind.
Partners logo should come on the right side of our brand logo.

Only the horizontal or horizontal full logo can be used to represent Crib when pairing with a partner's logo.
